The Dishes listed on this menu are all created using ingredients that do not contain gluten. Our staff has been trained to understand the importance of avoiding cross contamination with products that do contain wheat or flour. We cook pastas in separate water and cut with specially designated knives and use specific cutting boards. We make every reasonable effort to avoid cross contamination, but we are "Not a Gluten Free Facility". We do make our own traditional bread and dough in house and the vast majority of dishes sold do indeed contain gluten. Please understand that as a result and even with our most vigorous efforts, we cannot guarantee a 100 percent gluten free experience.
